Divisional Housing Assignments

At Cal Maritime, all new incoming students are placed into divisional housing assignments. Divisional housing assignments mean we assign you your room assignment and roommate placements according your assigned division.

Your division is considered your "core group" within your academic major (MT, Engine, or MPM). Throughout the academic year, you will attend formation, watch, classes, and reside in housing with other students in your divisional group. Your specific divisional assignment is created by the Office of the Commandant and is used within the Corps of Cadet structure. If you have questions about your specific divisional assignment, you can contact the Office of the Commandant at ofccomcad@csu.edu. Your divisional assignment was already created by the Office of Commandant.

As a new student, you'll have the option to search for and request a roommate within your specific division.

For all incoming New Students, all specific room locations and assignments will be created to the Office of Residence Life. New Students only need to select a roommate for the housing process at Cal Maritime.

Navigating the Room Selection Process

Using the roommate selection pages, you can search for a potential roommate by using the search functions below.

- First, you will complete your web profile and personal profiles. If you need to edit or add any details to your Web Profile or Personal Profile, you can make changes at any moment. Completing your profiles will make your roommate search process better.

Helpful Information:

- Roommate "pairings" are assigned according to divisional groups.
- Roommate options found in the search results are students in your divisional group.
- If a specific roommate is not viewable, it mean person is not in your divisional group.
